FY14 CAPITAL BUDGET DEVELOPMENT GUIDELINES

INTRODUCTION

Guidance from the Governor for the FY14 Capital Budget is expected to place enopicesing airon deferred maintenance. With this in mind, the FY14 capital budget requests will incorporate much of the analysis anoplanning work accomplished uring the FY13 budget development processwell as review and reconsider elements not incorporated be project list for the last two budget years

UA's longrange Capital Improvement Pan will be consistent with the 10/2000 performed plan submitted to the State of Alaska. The plan provides the Board of Regentsident, executive staff, and university community a cleapicture of the desirectapital projects and the annual operating cases ociated with those projects. The plan provement Plan aims to balance program needs across UA campuses with realistic expectation deferred maintenance and renewal back Add new facilities are important to the University, annual deferred maintenance as wellf asility renewal and repurposing ode corrections, and some pgraces for University equipment has been and will continue to be a top capital budget priorit.

- x Over the past 10 years (FY0F4/13), UA has requested an average 205.$Pmillion in state funding for DM and R&R, buonly received an average of 253.9 million. The vast gap between the funding required anthe funding received, in currendollars, has elevated UA's deferred maintenance and renewal and repurposibg cklog from $200 million in 2000 to over $1.0 billion as of September 2011. Extending the life of existing facilities isolutely essential The longer UA goes without onsistent adequate acilities funding, the faster the deferred maintenance backlothereatens UA with areas of ission failure That, in turn, impacts annual O&M dollars that become unprogrammatically diverted top the blems.
- x Through its operating budgethe University dedicates funding pproximately 1.5% of adjusted facility value) every yeato routine and preventive maintenance and repair (M&A) mon industrystandards prescribe 2%% of current replacement value as thostappropriate annual investment for M&RThe specific percentage is determined basevarious factors such as the age of the buildings, previous renovations, the level of building use, an antichte
